NUMBER 43

MANY REPUBLICAN

Taxpayers See No Need For a Change

In Management of Fiscal Affairs and Will Vote Democratic Ticket This Fall.

A VERY LOW TAX RATE.

At a meeting of the Democratic County Campaign Committee, held here last Saturday afternoon, reports were heard from every precinct in the county, and it will doubtless be of interest to Democrats to know that the party was never in a better shape than now. A poll of the county shows a Democratic disaffection of less extent than has existed in any campaign for years, and it is gratifying to know that a large number of Republicans will vote the Democratic ticket this fall. They say they can see no reason for voting against the men who have done so much for the taxpayers of Washington county, and who have placed the county in a place where it is recognized by the State's Auditor as one of the very few perfectly managed and well-financed counties in Kentucky.

The taxpayers of Washington county know how the county stood eight or ten years ago; they know that taxes were much higher then than now, and that the county to use a slang phrase—was heels over head in debt.

The Sun believes the Republicans will refuse to nominate a ticket. The Republican leaders of the county are men of more than ordinary political sagacity, and we are quite sure that, they have given the matter sober thought, and see that, with the admirable record made by the Democratic officials during the past seven years, no nominations ought to be made, and for this potent reason: It is difficult to find available men who are willing to enter the race.

These officials, during the period noted above, have wiped out an indebtedness against the county of $80,000. Beside paying off this large debt the officials have built more bridges and made more internal improvements than was ever known before. The county is now on a cash basis, every nickel of indebtedness having been paid.

At a regular meeting of the Fiscal Court held last April the tax rate for the county was fixed at 50 cents for all purposes. One-half of the amount was levied for turnpikes and bridges, and out of the remaining 25 cents, 5 cents was appropriated for dirt roads. Thus it will be seen that our fiscal affairs are being conducted in such a way as to "put money into the pockets of the people." Too much can not be said in praise of our Fiscal Court. It is composed of safe, reliable men—men who know how to manage in a manner which will result in lower taxes. Then, the question: "CAN WE AFFORD TO REMOVE SUCH A COURT?" Can we afford to remove such officials as we now have? We believe that a large majority of the voters of the county now stand ready to answer NO!

Here is a thought for you: During the past seven years the county rate has been lowered 30 cents. We have men of influence at the head of our county affairs—men whose advice is listened to, and whose opinions are respected by our State officials. Every taxpayer in the county recognizes the excellent work accomplished by the State Board of Equalization last July by County Attorney T. Scott Mayes, Representative W. D. Claybrooke and County Treasurer Robert Noe. The reduction of 30 cents in the tax rate means a reduction of $10,500 in taxes, and that 20 per cent raise, which our representatives before the State Board lifted, means an additional saving to the taxpayers of the county of over $6,000.

As we said in the beginning, we believe the Republicans, after having given this matter due consideration, will decline to nominate, realizing that there are no reasons to present to the voters as to why a change should be made in the management of our fiscal affairs. Money saved to the Democratic taxpayer is also money saved to the Republican taxpayer, and there are many staunch Republicans in Washington county who will not see it in another light than this.

Let's make it unanimous this time; let us all put our shoulders to the wheel and assist the county officials in another "turn" for a still lower tax rate.

Undergoes Operation.

From Louisville Times of last Friday: J. R. Claybrooke, a noted stock-raiser, of Springfield, Ky., well known throughout the State, underwent a difficult operation at St. Joseph's Infirmary at 9 o'clock this morning. Five stones, the smallest about the size of a partridge egg, were removed.

The operation was performed by Drs. Vance and Matthews, and it is thought that it will prove successful. Seven years ago Mr. Claybrooke underwent a similar operation when he was relieved of a stone as large as a turkey egg weighing 1,400 grains. He has been an invalid for the past three years, but it is thought that he will now regain his health if he withstands the shock of the operation.

Mr. Claybrooke was brought to Louisville last evening, accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Jennie Claybrooke, and his two sons, W. D. Claybrooke, representative of Washington county in the Legislature, and Joseph S. Claybrooke. He is seventy-one years old. At one time he represented Washington county in the Legislature.

Reports from Mr. Claybrooke last evening are to the effect that he is still improving.

His Mother's Hand.

Louisville Herald: The purchase by R. F. Collier, of New York City, of the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln, was a gracious and patriotic act. The soil that gave birth to that majestic man and martyr is more sacred than common clay.

The sale of the old Kentucky farm has given rise to a new discussion of the old debate as to the forces that shaped Mr. Lincoln's life.

Discarding as rhetorical the statement of Henry Watterson, made in his lecture on Lincoln, that the great emancipator was inspired as Moses was inspired, the question is pertinent: What made Lincoln great? Heredity, environment or personal endeavor?

And the answer is—all of these forces.

He had something from heredity. Like all great men he had a great mother.

He had something from environment. Lack of advantages stimulated his endeavor, and in this inverse way his environment, though unfavorable, was a help. He overcame the difficulties he developed power and self-reliance.

But—Most of all the forces was personal endeavor. This, combined with a high ideal, made Lincoln what he was.

When that wilderness mother, Nancy Hanks Lincoln, died in the log cabin in Spencer county, Ind., whether the family moved from Kentucky—she put her hand upon the head of eight-year-old Abraham and said:

"I'm going away, my boy, but I want you to remember that your mother wants you to be a good and useful man."

"And always, we know, Abraham Lincoln felt his mother's hand upon his head, and he determined to make his mother's dream come true.

Pluck, persistence, spirit of endurance—plus a mother's love and longing—made Abraham Lincoln great.

The touch of a venerated hand and the sound of a voice that was still was not the least of the forces in his great life.

THREE JURORS CURED

Of Cholera Morbus With One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. G. W. Fowler, of Hightower, Ala., relates an experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Cleburne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some soup and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life, and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera medicine, but the druggist said a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had had what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the box I was in. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted with the same ailment, and one small bottle cured the three of us." For sale by C. J. Haydon, druggist.

Death of Mr. Gribbens.

Mr. John F. Griffing died at his home in the Pleasant Grove neighborhood Monday night of typhoid fever. Mr. Gribbens had been ill for over a month, and was considered in a dangerous condition from the beginning of his illness. He was fifty years old, and was born in Taylor county, but had been living in Washington county for the past few years. The deceased was a devout member of the Methodist church, and since early manhood had been a conscientious Christian. He leaves a wife and one child, to whom the community extend the most sincere sympathy. Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church yesterday afternoon by the pastor, and the body was interred in the cemetery here.

Death of Mrs. Walker.

Mrs. Helen C. Walker, widow of Dr. T. R. Walker, died at her home in Louisville yesterday, after an illness of several days. Mr. Walker was a sister of Mr. Andrew Cunningham, of this place, and resided here until her marriage to Dr. Walker, since which time she had made her home in Louisville. She was well known in Springfield, and her friends here will regret to hear of her death. Mrs. Walker was a devout Christian, and was a woman universally admired.

A Remedy Without a Peer.

"I find Chamberlain's Stomach and Bowls Tablets more beneficial than any other remedy I ever used for stomach trouble," says J. P. Kite, of Edina, Mo. For any disorder of the stomach or biliousness for constipation, these Tablets are without a peer. For sale by C. J. Haydon, druggist.

AN EMBLEM OF LOVE.

WRITTEN FOR THE SUN BY SENJO.

When the autumn leaves are falling, and the wind with mournful cry Gently strips the golden mantle from the trees which stand near by; When sweet Nature yields her beauty to the cold and barren earth In remembrance of the mercy, now claimed by right of birth; When sweet summer time is painted with a hue that would outshine The gilded marble palace, or the picturesque Alpine, In the garden stands a flower, once cherished for a friend; Still its tender leaves are drooping, while its colors sweetly blend; Yet its beauty is an emblem of that love once purely born While at the feet of mercy, the world had viewed with scorn; And, while the gentle breeze is shaking the autumn's sparkling dew, Each golden leaf is weeping in its memory so true. In the doorway stands a loved one, whose hands had placed it there, And views the rapid transit of the sweet, now faded flower. I wonder if she's weeping to see the leaves so fast fall; And token of that friendship which won a deeper shade. Ah! there's not a feeling the autumn air can chill; The flowers may be fading, but the heart is warmer still. She is trusting in a promise the world may never know; Friends here may forsake her, but in heaven it's not so.

Death of Miss O'Bryan.

Miss Fannie O'Bryan died at the home of her mother, near town, Monday, between 12 and 1 o'clock, of consumption. She had been in ill health for about three years, but she was not considered in a serious condition until about two hours before she expired. She had been going about the house all morning on the day she died, but was stricken with a violent hemorrhage, and died before a physician hardly had time to reach her bedside.

The deceased was aged about thirty-five years, and had resided in Washington county since birth. She was loved by hundreds of friends, and there were few who knew her who did not admire her beautiful traits of character. Notwithstanding her suffering for the past three years, she always had a kind word for all, and she was seldom seen in any other but a happy mood. Miss O'Bryan was a devout member of the Catholic church, and died fully fortified by the rites of the church. The body was interred at St. Rose yesterday morning. Hundreds of friends extend condolence to the bereaved ones.

When Ingersoll Was Silenced.

Shortly after Ingersoll, the noted infidel, was defeated in his race for the governorship of Illinois, he was one day broadly proclaiming his infidelity on board a railway train, between Chicago and Peoria. After being for some time offensively voluble, he turned to a gentleman near him, and defiantly demanded: "Tell me of one great result that Christianity has ever accomplished." The gentleman, not wishing to open argument with the boaster, hesitated to answer. The train had stopped, and all was silent in the car.

Just then an old lady of eighty years, who sat just behind the infidel, touched his arm with trembling hand, and said: "Sir, I do not know who you are, but I think I can tell you of one great and glorious thing which Christianity has done."

"What is it, madam?" said Ingersoll. "It has kept Robert G. Ingersoll from being governor of the great state of Illinois." If a stroke of lightning had flashed through the car the effect could not have been more marked. Ingersoll turned literally pale with rage, and remained silent. EX.

SCAMORE VALLEY.

We are having some nice fall weather, and the farmers are very busy cutting corn. The threshing is in our vicinity this week.

Rev. W. E. Sutherland has returned from Warren county, where he has been conducting a series of meetings. Marshal Keeling and family spent Saturday night and Sunday with their parents at Brooksville.

J. D. Sutherland was in Springfield Saturday. Misses Maud and Eva Inman gave a musical last Saturday night, which was quite an enjoyable affair.

Mr. Evan Armstrong and Miss Hattie Settles visited at Brooksville Sunday.

Mr. J. D. Sutherland and wife, Misses Hattie Settles, Mayne Merritt and Messrs. Ballard and Oph Settles attended the singing given at Mr. Inman's Saturday night.

Misses Zora and Maggie Montgomery and Mr. Oranby Shewmaker visited at the home of J. S. Inman Sunday.

Misses Flossie and Pearl Armstrong spent Saturday and Sunday at Tatham Springs.

Mr. L. I. Gillespie and wife, of Harrodsburg, visited relatives here last Sunday.

Miss Davie Scruggs and little brother, Curtis, of Pulliam, spent last week with their aunt, Mrs. Cora Meloy.

Fire in Anderson.

Anderson News: On last Friday evening about seven o'clock a fire was discovered in a back room on the upper floor of the immense department store building belonging to the firm of Gee & Bottom, at Tyrone, and before the flames could be stayed, this building, which contained the largest general store, a saloon, barber shop and meat store, besides the living rooms occupied by Mr. Gee and his family, the stables, two warehouses, poultry house, ice house and warehouse above it, and the Methodist church were all reduced to ashes, causing a loss of between $20,000 and $25,000, only partially covered by insurance.

ST. CATHARINE'S

Now Open.—Students Arriving.

The School Is Unusually Promising.—Commodious Quarters.

WORK ON BUILDING PROGRESSING

A few weeks ago our pages bore witness to the fact that the new St. Catharine's was nearing completion, and would welcome her pupils on the 15th of this month. We are happy now to say that the announcement has been verified—classes being in session in the completed portion of the building. All the pupils seem delighted with their commodious accommodations. These are in every way comfortable and convenient, and there is every reason to congratulate the good sisters, who have worked and waited, faithfully and patiently.

The teaching body of St. Catharine's was never better fitted to impart instruction than at present. During the past year the heads of various departments—art, elocution, vocal and instrumental music—have been studying in Boston and Chicago, acquiring the latest and best methods. In elocution, the system in use at the famous Emerson College of Oratory in Boston, will be employed. Vocal culture also will be given just as at this college, while instrumental music will be taught according to Chicago's best methods. The art classes will be in charge of a gifted instructor—her technique in drawing and painting in oil, water and china, as well as wood carving, being excellent.

The preparatory and academic classes are under the supervision of efficient and experienced teachers, and nothing will be left undone to give their pupils a practical and polished education.

In the academic course, which covers four years' work, special teachers are employed for each branch. Thus, the science department, embracing chemistry, botany, astronomy and physics, is in charge of one teacher, who devotes her entire attention to these studies. In like manner the languages, modern as well as classical, are imparted by another, while the English course, embracing rhetoric and literature, is taught by a third, and so on with the other branches.

The commercial course is entirely independent of the classical, and pupils are required to pass a satisfactory examination in the studies of the preparatory course before enrolling. The studies of the commercial course are bookkeeping, stenography, typewriting, commercial law, business correspondence, spelling, civil government and commercial arithmetic.

Herefore these studies were included in the classical course, but, finding the work too heavy for most pupils, the two departments are now separate, and either may be selected, but only adopted and pursued. The commercial course usually requires two years' application. At the close of this period of study pupils are expected to pass a satisfactory examination and receive the commercial diploma.

We mention these points simply that the public may know something of the advantages St. Catharine's is offering to patrons. The thought of the many sad losses of the sisters ought to be an incentive to our people to patronize this grand, old institution, and we are sure it will be, but our readers must remember that by so doing they expend their means to their own best interest, since they receive first value in return for every cent so utilized.

Three cheers, then, for dear, old St. Catharine's and the good sisters, and may many happy, prosperous years bless their days on "Sienna Heights," their beautiful, new location. They deserve success, and in the name of the people of Washington county The Sun warmly congratulates them on that which has already crowned their efforts.

Dr. Crume Held Over.

[The examining trial of Dr. Sam. M. Crume was called in the Criminal court in Louisville last Thursday, and, after evidence in the Commonwealth was introduced, the defendant was held over in the sum of $1,000, the defense declining to introduce evidence. The case will be investigated by the grand jury October 12.]

History of Bethlehem Baptist Church

Washington County, Kentucky.

WRITTEN BY REV. R. L. PURDOM, PASTOR, AND READ BY HIM BEFORE THE CENTRAL ASSOCIATION OF BAPTIST.

THE Bethlehem Church, Washington County, Kentucky, was constituted on the 19th day of October, 1850, hence one hundred years old 19th day of next month. The record states that it was done by a Presbytery appointed by the original South District Association. Said Presbytery consisted of the following named ministers: Jesse Harris, William Branson and Reuben Padgett. From that it appears that the association exercised the privilege of appointing the Presbytery that constituted the church. The term Original South District Association requires a few words of explanation. When the Baptists of Elkhorn Association and those of South Kentucky entered into terms of general union in 1801, they laid aside the names Higher and Separate Baptists and took the name of "United Baptist." In 1802, the Association having become very extensive in its territory, it was agreed to make a division. Those on the north side of the Kentucky river were called the North District Association, and those on the south side South District Association. Soon after the latter body was formed, there were serious doctrinal divisions among the brethren, and at the meeting in 1803 a portion of the churches withdrew. Those who adhered to the orthodox faith, although in the minority, were recognized by other associations as the original South District Association. This explains the expression. There were thirty-four members in the organization of Bethlehem church. How many of them had letters, or from what Baptist churches they came, the record does not inform us. They were constituted on the scriptures of the Old and New Testaments as their only rule of faith and practice. At the November meeting it was determined to elect a deacon and clerk at the following meeting, and until that time to travel in spirit over the matter; in other words, to make the election of these officers a matter of special prayer. This was a good resolution, and an indication of earnest piety. It would be well for churches of the present day to follow this example. At the December meeting, pursuant to the foregoing order, Brother John Davis was elected Deacon, and Brother Anderson Jeffreys Clerk. As one deacon was insufficient to attend to the temporalities of the church, in January, 1860, Brother Jeffreys was elected to that office. There is no record of any being called in the year 1860, but from a reference in the minutes of the September meeting it appears that Brother Padgett was serving them at that time. About this time there were some disorderly members in the church. The charge against them was using intoxicating liquors to excess. After making proper acknowledgments they were restored. The brethren at that time were strict disciplinarians, and those that went astray were promptly looked after. In April, 1866, the church reaffirmed her position taken in her organization, that they would take nothing as their rule of faith and practice but the scriptures of the Old and New Testaments. The first record of any one being called to the pastorate is found in the minutes of the June meeting in 1811. A Brother Stirmman was called to that office. With the history of this brother the writer of this sketch is entirely unacquainted. He was called for an indefinite period, or so long as pastor and church were mutually pleased, but if either party became dissatisfied the contract could be dissolved by giving timely and friendly notice. In July of this same year a colored man named James was licensed to exhort and sing, provided he obtained the consent of the church. At the same time a member named Brother Rowner brought a charge against Brother Stirmman, the pastor, for immoral conduct. The church acquitted them, and Brother Rowner was arraigned for making a false accusation. He was summoned to appear before the church, and, failing to do so, he was excommunicated. It appears from the minutes of the July meeting, 1812, that this church, in some way, was connected with South Kentucky Association, for John Davis and Anderson Jeffreys were appointed messengers to that body. A Brother Paine, about this time, was acting as deacon. There is no record of his election, but he certainly was, for in September, 1813, he resigned, and Brother William Willis was elected in his place. In July, 1814, Brother Stirmman tendered his resignation as pastor, having served the church three years and eight months. At the same time nothing to show that his resignation was accepted. In 1814 messengers were appointed to two associations, South Kentucky and South District. Why this was done I am unable to tell. In August, 1817, William Gordon was elected a deacon. At the December meeting a member named Brother Jones, joining the Shakers. The meeting house, which seems to have been located on Pleasant Run, was moved to a situation near Mr. Thomas Froman's.

On August, 1826, a Brother Hardisty was called to the pastoral care of the church for one year, which he accepted. In October, 1827, Brother Jeffreys was licensed to preach the gospel. In July, 1828, Brother Hardisty was called for another year, which he accepted. In the year 1829, he was unanimously agreed to ordain Brother Jeffreys to the work of the gospel ministry. In July of the same year it was determined to build a new meeting house of brick, its dimensions to be forty by sixty feet. The site agreed upon was on the land of a Mr. Kendrick, near the ford of the Beech Fork, and near where the present house is located.

In December, 1831, N. Jeffreys was chosen Clerk and E. Jett Deacon. In August, 1839, Brother Hardisty gave up the care of the church, having acted as pastor for the period of eight years. During this year a resolution was passed that no Campbellites should be allowed to preach in the Bethlehem meeting house. This doubtless grew out of the fact that in many parts of the State serious troubles were existing between the Baptists and Campbellites. In January, 1840, Brother S. B. Hardisty was called to the care of the church, which he accepted. In the following December he was called for another year, and accepted.

In August, 1837, a protracted meeting was held, which resulted in twenty-two additions. This was the first protracted meeting ever held with the church of which we have any account. In June, 1838, and in 1839 a similar call was extended to Brother Cook, and in like manner again in March, 1840, it appearing that Brother Cook was unable to serve them any longer, Brother Hardisty was called as his successor, which he accepted. In 1841 and 1842 similar calls were extended to him, which he accepted. In 1843 Elder Hardisty was called for another year, also in 1844 and 1845, which he accepted. In January, 1843, there were forty-eight persons added to the church by experience and baptism.

In March, 1845, J. W. Hundley, Josiah Askren and James H. Maratta were ordained deacons. In November, 1846, by request of the Association, a board was appointed to make collection for the support of the gospel. I suppose it was intended by this to raise funds for missionary purposes. In 1846 a committee was appointed to collect funds for the Indian mission. These actions indicate that this church has for a long time been a missionary body, and in like manner acted in the years 1847, 1848, 1849, and 1850, when called for another year. At this time the annual call of a pastor was customary with this church. During these years letters were granted to several members to organize a church in Springfield. This organization did not succeed, as the church soon went down. In March, 1848, Elder Hardisty was called for another year, or as Brother Hardisty was blind for a number of years previous to his death. In August of the same year Brother Steinenberg was called to the care of the church, which was accepted.

In August, 1851, there is a record that Brother Daniel Colgan was pastor at that time. The minutes from August, 1849, till November, 1850, being lost, it is taken for granted that he was called some time during that interval. The record referred to is as follows: "Brother Colgan, our pastor, is engaged in teaching school, and, as his labors are needed in this section, resolved, that a committee of three be appointed to confer with Cartwright's Creek, Beech Fork and Lebanon churches, to see if we can raise $75 to release Brother Colgan from the school room." This was a move in the right direction.

In 1851 Brother Milton Green, the clerk, having been removed by death, Brother Reuben Jeffreys was elected to succeed him. In September, 1854, a protracted meeting was conducted by Brother Steinenberg and Brother Daniel Buckner, which resulted in fifty additions to the church. In October, 1854, Brother Colgan resigned as pastor. Brother Daniel Buckner was unanimously called as his successor for two Sundays in each month. At the next meeting he accepted for one Sunday.

In 1855 J. H. Maratta and Isaac Froman were elected deacons. Contributions were made this year to the General Association, and messengers sent to the same. In 1856 the association met with this church.

In 1857 an acre of ground was purchased for a cemetery. In the same year there was a difficulty in the church in regard to R. P. Steinenberg. He was excluded by a majority of thirty-four to nineteen. At the next meeting those in sympathy with Steinenberg were granted letters of dismission.

In June, 1858, R. Jeffreys resigned as clerk, and a vote of thanks was tendered him for faithful services. Brother C. Jeffreys was elected his successor. At the same meeting Brother Buckner resigned as pastor. In July a resolution was passed to this effect: "That no one but a Baptist minister shall be allowed to preach in this church unless otherwise ordered by a majority of the trustees." At the same meeting those in sympathy with R. P. Steinenberg, who had gone off in disorder and organized a new church, were, on motion, excluded. They were sixteen in number. At the same meeting Rev. Robert C. Buckner, a son of Rev. Daniel Buckner, was, by a unanimous vote, called to the care of this church. The call was accepted, and he entered immediately on his work. At the August meeting in this year twenty names were erased from the church book for non-attendance.

In August, 1859, Brother Buckner tendered his resignation as pastor, which was accepted. On the fourth Saturday in September of the same year Rev. E. Kirtley was called to the pastorate, and he agreed to act as supply until spring. Owing to his connection with the General Association, as their agent he could make no definite arrangement with the church until that time. After that he became their regular pastor.

In July, 1860, steps were taken to build a new house of worship, which resulted in the one now occupied at a cost of $3,000. Brother Kirtley, who had been preaching the fourth Saturday and Sunday of each month, was invited to preach the second Sunday also. The arrangement was agreed to, and thus his services for two Sundays in each month were secured.

In November, 1862, Brother Isaac Froman was elected clerk, the incumbent at that time having been absent for some length of time. In October, 1863, a protracted meeting was held, which resulted in twenty additions by experience and baptism. In August, 1864, the Association met with this church.

In June, 1865, after a pastorate of nearly six years, Brother Kirtley gave up the care of this church in order to take charge of the Baptist Female College in Bardstown. In July, 1865, Rev. A. J. Miller was called as pastor, which he accepted at the following meeting. During a protracted meeting held in October of this year there were six additions by experience and baptism. In 1866, Rev. A. J. Miller offered a resolution, which was unanimously carried, the substance of which was that a convention for the purpose of bringing a union between Baptists and Reformers ought to be opposed. In August, 1866, a protracted meeting was held in which the pastor was assisted by Rev. J. H. Spencer, and six members were added by experience and baptism. In November, 1866, Brother W. T. Gordon was granted license to preach, and in March, 1867, he was invited to preach for this church the second Sunday in each month. In December following there was a series of meetings which resulted in thirty additions.

In January, 1868, a committee was appointed to see if a parsonage was needed and probable cost of same. Also, a committee was appointed to petition the Legislature to pass a bill incorporating Bethlehem church. In March the committee on parsonage reported in favor of building the same, the cost estimated at $1,000. The house, in due time, was erected. In April, 1868, Brother Miller tendered his resignation as pastor, which was accepted. Brother H. G. Crews was then invited to succeed him, and at the next meeting he accepted the call. The Association met with this church in 1868.

In January, 1869, a series of meetings were held which resulted in seven additions. In March of the same year Brother Stallings resigned, and Brother T. F. Baker was elected in his place. In this year Brother J. S. Stallings was ordained a deacon.

At the March meeting in 1871 four members were received by experience and baptism. At the May meeting in 1871 it was unanimously resolved that hereafter the call of a pastor should be for an indefinite period or during mutual pleasure, timely notice to be given when the pastor or the church desires the relation to be dissolved.

In June, 1872, Brother T. F. Baker resigned his office as clerk, and he was succeeded by Brother J. R. Claybrooke. In August, 1872, Brother Crews offered his resignation, to take effect in six months, which was accepted. At the same meeting Brother Powar resigned his office as deacon.

In January, 1878, a member was excluded from the fellowship of the church for retailing intoxicating liquors. This is given as the sentiment of the church on the temperance question. At this meeting Elder J. J. Felts was called as pastoral supply, which he accepted.

In May, 1873, by a vote of the church, a council assembled for the purpose of ordaining to the full work of the gospel ministry of Brother W. T. Gordon. The council was composed of the following brethren: A. W. Chambliss, Bardstown, Ky.; V. E. Kirtley, Lebanon, Ky.; R. R. Thurman, Bardstown, Ky.; W. E. Chambliss, Bardstown, Ky.; J. J. Felts, Texas, Ky. Dr. Chambliss was chosen Moderator, and after due examination Brother Gordon was ordained to the full work of the ministry by laying on of hands and prayer. In June, 1873, Brother James Gordon gave up his position as deacon. In May, 1874, Elder W. B. Arvin was elected pastor, and continued as such until May, 1881. In October Brother Claybrooke resigned the clerkship, and was succeeded by Brother J. S. Gordon. In July, 1881, Elder T. M. Vaughn was elected pastor, which position he accepted, and began his labors the second Sunday in August, 1881. In October, 1881, a protracted meeting was begun, lasting about sixteen days, which resulted in sixteen additions. The pastor was assisted by Elder B. F. Taylor.

In December, 1882, Joseph Gordon and Jacob Cocanougher were elected deacons, and in March, 1884, J. W. Campbell was also elected to that office. At the January meeting, 1884, letters were granted to twelve members to organize a church in Springfield, Ky., which church was organized and is now a prosperous body. At the February meeting of the same year Brother J. S. Gordon's resignation as clerk and trustee was accepted. Brother J. R. Clay-brooke was elected clerk, and Brother J. W. Gordon was elected trustee. Brother Vaughn's resignation as pastor was accepted at the August meeting, 1884, he having served them three years. A committee was appointed at this meeting to report on a suitable man to serve the church as pastor. At the September meeting the church adopted the plan of quarterly collections for missions. At the October meeting, 1884, the committee on pastor reported the name of Elder R. L. Purdom. On motion and second Brother Purdom was called as pastor for one-half his time. Brother Purdom was so engaged that he could only serve the church one Sunday in each month. This was agreed to and continued until the first Sunday in August, 1885. From that date he has given the church one-half his time. In July of this year the pastor, assisted by Brother J. M. Coleman, held a meeting lasting twelve days, which resulted in thirty-five additions by experience and baptism.

At the November meeting, 1885, the deacons were directed to raise money to put a new roof on the church house. This work was completed after some delay. At the same meeting a committee was appointed to solicit contributions for the Orphans' Home. This church contributed to the Home regularly for eighteen years. In March, 1888, Brother J. W. Campbell was granted license to preach. At the same meeting Brother Campbell resigned the office of deacon. In June, 1888, it was agreed to repaint and paper the church house, and in due time the work was done. At the September meeting of this year Brothers J. T. Gordon, Jacob Cocanougher and Dr. James Green were appointed a committee to raise money to aid in erecting a monument to the memory of V. E. Kirtley and wife. At the November meeting, 1888, a letter was read from Mount Gilead church, Adair county, Kentucky, stating that they had called Brother J. W. Campbell as pastor, and requesting his ordination to the full work of the ministry. By motion and second it was unanimously agreed to call a council to meet with this church on the fifth Sunday in December, which council, consisting of W. B. Arvin and S. A. Chambers, of Campbellsville, Ky.; A. C. Graves, of Lebanon, Ky.; and R. L. Purdom, of Texas, Ky.; did meet on that day, and after examination of the candidate filed, by laying on of hands and prayer, set him apart to the full work of the gospel ministry. In December, 1888, the pastor was aided in a protracted meeting by L. H. Salin, when there were twelve additions by experience and baptism.

At the January meeting, 1889, Brother J. R. Claybrooke offered a resolution looking to the organization of a Washington County Association, which movement resulted in the organization of Central Association. In June of this year Brothers C. B. Pope and J. M. Begley were elected deacons. In October, 1889, messengers from the churches desiring to go into the new association met with this church, and Central Association was organized and held her first session. In September of this year Brothers C. B. Pope and J. M. Begley were ordained to the office of deacon, Brother W. M. Stallings assisting in the ordination.

In a protracted meeting beginning the third Sunday in July, 1890, in which the pastor was assisted by Brother L. H. Salin, thirty-two were added to the church by experience and baptism. In June of this year Brother R. L. Purdom tendered his resignation as pastor, which was accepted; but, being recalled unanimously at the August meeting, he accepted, and has continued to serve the church up to the present time, a period of nearly twenty-one years.

As the result of a meeting of several days, in which the pastor was assisted by Brother R. C. Medaris, fourteen were added to the church. This meeting was held August, 1890.

At the January meeting, 1892, Brother J. R. Claybrooke's resignation as clerk was accepted, to take effect at the next meeting. At the February meeting Brother W. D. Claybrooke was elected clerk. At the same meeting Brother Jacob Cocanougher offered his resignation as trustee, which was accepted.

At the same meeting in regard to the trusteeship, at the April meeting, 1894, the trustees, J. R. Claybrooke, V. T. Sweeney and J. W. Gordon, tendered their resignations, which were accepted. On motion, the church proceeded to elect trustees by private ballot, which resulted in the election of J. R. Claybrooke, V. T. Sweeney and J. W. Jeffereys. A protracted meeting was held in 1893 and 1894, in which the pastor was aided by A. Booth, and there were twenty-five members baptized into the fellowship of the church.

At the June meeting, 1895, Brothers C. L. Brady and T. A. Hays were elected deacons. In September, 1895, the pastor was assisted by Brother J. W. Campbell in a ten-days' meeting, which resulted in sixteen additions by experience and baptism. In November, 1895, Brother W. D. Claybrooke, the clerk, being absent from the community, and not able to attend the meetings of the church, the office was declared vacant, and the church proceeded to the election of a clerk, which resulted in the election of Brother R. L. Arnold to that office.

The pastor was assisted by Brother J. H. Dew in a meeting held in October, 1896; also in a meeting held in July, 1897, resulting in twenty-nine additions by experience and baptism. On the fifth Sunday in December, 1896, the Sunday School and Missionary Convention of the Central Association met with this church, at which time Brothers C. L. Brady and T. A. Hays were ordained to the office of deacon, the ordaining council consisting of Brothers W. E. Mitchell, W. M. Stallings and R. L. Purdom.

At the November meeting, 1898, the trustees were ordered to make necessary repairs on the parsonage, which was reported done at the February meeting, 1896.

Central Association met with this church in September, 1898. At the April meeting Brother Arnold's resignation as clerk was accepted, and Brother Jacob Brady was elected to succeed him in that office.

At the November meeting, 1901, Brother O. C. Standfield, by a vote of the church, was called to the active duties of the deaconship, he having been ordained by the church of his former membership. In a meeting held by the pastor, assisted by Brother J. W. Campbell, beginning September 22, 1901, and continuing about ten days, there were added to the church by experience and baptism.

At the March meeting, 1903, Brother V. T. Sweeney's resignation as trustee was accepted, and Brother J. W. Gordon was elected to succeed him. In a meeting held in September, 1902, also a meeting in September, 1903, the pastor, assisted by Brother W. A. Hays, there were thirteen members baptized into the fellowship of the church.

At the March meeting, 1904, Brother Jacob Brady's resignation as clerk was accepted, and Brother G. N. Campbell elected to that office. In September, 1904, the pastor was assisted by W. W. Wood in a meeting of days, which resulted in eighteen additions by experience and baptism. At the February meeting a committee was appointed to make repairs on the church house. This work has been done at a cost of about $250.

This church has been a regular contributor to missions for about fifty years. This church has an evergreen Sunday school and a weekly prayer meeting. She accepts nothing as her rule of faith and practice but the scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, and has confidence in the Bible as the Word of God. May her future history be marked by greater development of Christian character in her membership and wider influence in the Master's cause.

Read This And Be Ashamed.

LOUISVILLE HERALD.

"Courage, he said, and pointed to the land." So sings Tennyson in his "Lotus Eaters." But—if you will read this editorial story—a true one—it will tell you of about a brave young modern who cried "Courage" when no land was visible. The story itself is an epic poem about Albert E. Blake, of Denver. At the age of twenty-eight Blake was a trusted employee of a railway company. His temperament was artistic and he gave all his leisure to drawing and studying art. One day he fell through a hatchway and literally broke his back. At the hospital the surgeons said he could not possibly live.

Three vertebrae were fractured and had to be removed. The spinal cord that delicate thread of life—was so bruised and lacerated that it could never heal, said the surgeons. In no previous case had any man, so affected, recovered.

Blake survived. There was something in the man that refused to die. He never gave up hope through all the slow-dragging months of torture. His lower limbs became partially paralyzed, and for five years he endured the stifling atmosphere of the county infirmary. All the time Blake was sure he would get well. He studied art and planned for the future. Crippled and half dead, he made sketches and cartoons and got himself a home.

Then death aimed another shaft at him. Blood poisoning attacked his poor benumbed lower limbs.

Again he met fate more than half way.

He decided to have his legs amputated. The surgeons said it was no use. The man would die anyway. Why the useless suffering? Blake demanded the knife. Moreover, in order to save his strength, he refused to take an anesthetic. The operators said it was one of the most heroic exhibitions of pluck ever shown on an operating table.

And then—No sooner had the brave-souled fellow recovered from the operation than dyspnea set in. That meant quarantine and lonely suffering. Still the man smiled and planned for the future.

And that was not all. As if loath to give up his victim, the Destroyer aimed another shaft. Scarcely had Blake recovered from the dyspnea than he was afflicted with the dreaded tetanus or lockjaw.

"That will finish the poor fellow," said everybody.

Blake did not die. Again he lay for months, nursing back his little candle flame of life.

He saw no land, as did the leader of the Lotus Eaters. But he would search the shore, he the storm never so wild, the waves never so high and the darkness never so deep. Today Alfred E. Blake has his own cosy home. He sent money to his sister in London, and she came to care for him. He teaches daily from his wheelchair. He makes money by his work. And no man is held in higher esteem.

Now—Isn't this true story sublime than any that literature tells of the heroism of Sir Gallahad or the Cid?

Does not this plain recital of a dauntless soul which, single-handed and with broken sword, fought Death—and won—strut the sluggish blood of your easy life?

And shall it not make you all ashamed of the revivings of your lot, your complaints and the loss of hope?

Meat Business of the South To Be Controlled By The Armour.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 16.—Armour & Co. have secured controlling interest in the big plant erected last year by the Kentucky Packing and Provision Co., and will immediately begin improvements involving the outlay of nearly half a million dollars. The deal means that Armour & Co. will practically dictate the pork output in the south. Louisville is made the distributing point of the entire south. Included in the deal is the sausage plant of the Kentucky company. Armour & Co. have been trying many months to secure a controlling interest in the concern. It is understood that the purchase price is $250,000.

INVOLVED.

H. N. Martin & Co. Tobacco Manufacturers, Are In Trouble.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 16.—W. S. Logan filed a petition asking the State court to appoint a receiver for H. N. Martin & Co., tobacco manufacturers, and alleging that the defendants are hopelessly insolvent. The plaintiff says the assets of the defendants amount to $105,000, which include $65,000 worth of tobacco in hogheads and $32,000 worth of accounts. It is charged further that the defendants are in debt to the Western National Bank, National Bank of Kentucky, First National Bank, German Insurance bank and Third National bank to the extent of $157,000; to Hugh Martin for $12,000 and other creditors about $22,000, making a total alleged liabilities of $221,000.

ESCAPED.

He Escaped From the Sheriff By Jumping From a Train.

Cattletown, Ky., Sept. 16.—Elnas Morgan, the maniac from Corinth, Ky., who escaped from Sheriff W. H. Barker, of Grant county, by jumping from a train that was running 10 miles an hour, was captured in the woods south of this place by a posse who had been in search for him since Thursday afternoon. Morgan was in a pitiful condition as a result of the wounds he received when he jumped from the flying train, and was immediately placed in the care of a physician. Despite the weakness from the loss of blood the maniac was not captured until after a hard chase by the posse. He was brought to Cattletown and placed in jail, where he will be held for the Grant county authorities.

Marion Items.

Falcon: Sunday the congregation of the First Presbyterian church unanimously called as their pastor, Rev. Thomas M. Cornelison, of Austin, Minn. They expect to hear from him soon, and feel confident that he will accept the call.

Mr. Perry J. Rakes and Miss Laura Albertson were married Tuesday at the home of the bride's father, Mr. James Albertson, in the county. These young people have scores of friends, who extend best wishes for a happy future.

Fair Grounds Will Be Sold.

Kentucky Standard: The fairgrounds of the Nelson County Agricultural Association will be privately offered for sale in a short time. The way in which they will be offered has not been definitely determined, but the one purpose in view will be to give the stock the most general distribution possible, so as to enlist the services of all the citizens in the county in the successful holding of the fair. It has been proposed to organize a new company or corporation, making the shares smaller, thus giving a larger number of shares, and insuring a broader and more general distribution of the stock. This question is with the people of the county. If they are sufficiently interested to take part in their own county fair, they now have the opportunity. It is to be hoped that interest in the home fair will be increased, and not diminished. The fair is a success at present; but the plan to scatter the stock generally among the people is a good one, and would make the meetings of the county fair the largest and most successful possible.

Negro Killed.

Kentucky Standard: Ben Stoner and Steve Gates, both colored, engaged in an altercation at the colored fair last Saturday, and the former struck Gates over the head with a club, inflicting injuries from which death resulted Tuesday evening. Gates was aged about fifty years, and was Stoner's stepfather, and it was said the difficulty originated over family disagreements. Gates died at the home of one Gregory, in Bardonia. Stoner is a young negro, who is in jail here awaiting his examining trial, which takes place today. The home of the parties is at Samuels Depot.

Dr. Ray.

Lebanon Enterprise: Dr. W. W. Ray, late Superintendent of the Western Kentucky Asylum, has moved to Lebanon for the purpose of practicing his profession. Dr. Ray is a son of N. S. Ray, Esq., for many years cashier of the Marion National Bank. The doctor was born and reared in this city, and has many friends and relatives here who are glad to extend to him a hearty welcome. He has purchased his father's old residence on Main street, next door to the hospital. His office is just opposite the court house, over the Modern grocery. He practiced medicine in Springfield for twenty-seven years.

The Colonel's Waterloo. Col. John M. Fuller, of Honey Grove, Texas, nearly met his Waterloo, from Liver and Kidney trouble. In a recent letter he says: "I was nearly dead, of these complaints, and although I tried my family doctor, he did me no good; I bought a 50-cent bottle of your great Electric Bitters, which cured me. I consider them the best medicine on earth, thank God, who gave you the knowledge to make them." Sold and guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Kidney Disease, by C. J. Haydon, druggist, at 50 cents a bottle.

MR. BRYAN TO MR. ROOSEVELT.

The Commoner: To President Roosevelt: Circumstance placed you in a position where, as chief executive of the nation, you were able to bring Russia and Japan together to effect an honorable peace.

You performed your duty in a manner creditable to yourself and to your country. You have been hailed as a peacemaker and you realize how the peaceful victory thus achieved by you outshines your military exploits. Why not use the present opportunity to put on foot a movement for the establishment of permanent peace? Last winter you asked for authority to enter into agreements which would be in effect arbitration treaties and the Senate (wisely, I believe,) refused to surrender the treaty making power. But now if you had been intrusted with the authority asked you would have hesitated to submit a question involving the nation's honor and it is not always possible to know in advance what questions may be involved. Why not ask Congress for authority to submit all international questions (when an agreement not to be reached by parties interested) to an impartial board for investigation and report. Investigation will in nearly every case remove the cause of complaint and reconcile the parties. Questions which a nation might be unwilling to submit to arbitration in advance could be settled by investigation by an impartial international board.

It was a glorious thing to end the war between the Russ and the Jap, but it would have been more glorious to have prevented the war and saved the frightful loss of life. The moral prestige which our nation now enjoys would in all probability enable it to lead a successful peace movement. The congratulations which you have received from the heads of European governments strengthen the chances of success. If the leading nations of the world would enter into an agreement to join in the creation of such a board and pledge themselves to submit all disputes to the board for investigation before declaring war the danger of war would be reduced to a minimum. Few men have had it in their power to do so much for humanity--will you improve the opportunity?

BROOKSVILLE.

Several attended the musical entertainment given by Miss Jessie Noel Saturday night. The music was furnished by the Noel band.

Messdams Birch, of Birchwood, and T. E. Wilson, of this place, were the pleasant guests of Mrs. W. P. Cheatnam Thursday.

Mr. Hellum Keeling was a visitor at Hillsboro Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Fannie Sutton and Mrs. Mollie Noel spent Tuesday with their parents at Willisburg.

Mrs. Lula Pinkston spent Monday night with Miss Mattie Brown, of Willisburg.

Miss Artie Sutton spent Monday with Miss Annie Melroy.

Mr. Bud Montgomery, who has been visiting relatives in Colorado and Indiana for three weeks, has returned home.

We were sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Turner Scruggs, who died Friday. We extend sympathy to the bereaved ones.

Mr. Marshal Keeling and family spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents at this place.

Mrs. Miller Birch visited her brother, Dr. W. M. Hyatt, of Springfield, one day last week.

Messrs. Hellum and Everett Keeling spent Saturday night with their sister at Chaplin.

Misses Myrtle Sutherland and Lula Pinkston were in Macksville Sunday.

MOORESVILLE.

Mr. Charles Shehan and Miss Maggie Smith visited her sister, Mrs. Ella Pile at Simms, last Sunday.

Mr. Ed. Pile and wife celebrated their cotton wedding at their home Thursday, September 14, from 2 to 8 p. m. They were the recipients of many valuable presents.

Mr. Ben M. Pile celebrated his birthday September 13. There were only a few present beside the relatives. A bounteous dinner was spread, which all partook of heartily.

Mrs. Ben M. Pile lost a valuable cow recently of hollow horn.

We attended the sale of the property of the late W. B. Greer, which occurred September 14. Household and kitchen furniture sold well, as did everything else. New corn sold at 34¢ per bushel; old corn, 38¢ and 39¢ per bushel; hogs, $7 per hundred pounds.

Corn cutting, sorghum making, seed-rye and wheat are the principal occupations of the farmers just now.

Death is always sad; but when parents lose two children--all they have--in less than two weeks, it is sadder still. Such has been the sad misfortune of our friends, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reed, of the Valley Hill section. We hope God will help and sustain them in their sad affliction. They have the sympathy of a host of friends here.

Mrs. Clara Bishop is on the sick list.

TAILOR-MADE SUITS, SKIRTS, CLOAKS

We have just received a shipment of Ladies' Tailor-made Suits and Skirts. They embrace all of the newest styles and colors, and at attractive prices.

Fall Styles.

Mr. Robertson is now in the Eastern market and our new Fall line will begin arriving in a few days. Our shipments for every department will be larger than ever before.

We handle the S. & K. Clothes for Boys. They are the best and cost very little more than the inferior quality. A NICE PRESENT WITH EACH SUIT. You will find large line extra knee pants here that won't rip.

ROBERTSON BROTHERS.

MCINTIRE.

Farmers are preparing their wheat ground. There will be a fairly good crop soon.

Some are cutting corn, and while the crop is good, it is not so good as was thought.

Uncle Jeff, Wright, an aged colored man, died at his home near here on Saturday night. Uncle Jeff was an honest and honorable man, and was a lifelong Democrat. The interment took place at the Wright burying ground on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Lela Naylor, of Columbia, visited relatives here last week.

Mr. G. T. Thompson, of near Lebanon, visited here last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hickerson, of the Hardin's Creek neighborhood, visited their uncle, Hilary McIntire, and family one day last week.

Miss Susie Thompson, of Louisville, accompanied by Mr. Oscar Curry, of Springfield, called on relatives here on Sunday.

SPARROW.

Tobacco cutting is the order of the day and the crop is extra fine. We hope all will realize good prices, and they should, if the Growers' Association is a success.

Rev. C. C. Allen preached to a very large congregation at the old Burnt church last Sunday, notwithstanding the inclement weather. Bro. Allen is a very eloquent speaker, and all who go to hear him are well repaid. He will preach there again the second Sunday in October, at 3:30 o'clock p. m., and all are cordially invited to attend.

The remains of the little two-year-old daughter of E. M. Case, of Chaplin, were interred at the old Burnt church cemetery last Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Mr. Hink Terrell, one of our best citizens, has removed with his family to Chaplin to engage in the hotel business. We wish him success.

Several from this place attended court at Lawrenceburg last week.

W. R. Moore and wife spent Saturday night and Sunday with J. T. Cox and wife, near McBrayer, Ky.

Mrs. Allie Barnett and daughter, Miss Jappa, were at Bloomfield last Tuesday.

J. S. Cammack has gone to Glenboro for a stay of several weeks.

George Best, of Wayside, was in our midst last Sunday.

Oscar Franklin, of Glenboro, visited at Mrs. Allie Barnett's Sunday.

Mr. Wm. Yates has accepted a position in the store of Black & Co., at Pulliam.

FALL HATS

My line of fall hats has arrived, and I am sure when they are seen by the ladies they will agree with me that the line is one of the handsomest ever shown in Springfield.

Skirts, Belts and Neckwear.

I have a full line of the above goods—all the latest styles. You are invited to call at your earliest convenience and see my line.

Mrs. Kate Williams.

Local News Notes.

If you have anything out of repair, don't forget G. B. Taylor, opposite The Sun office.

The books of Dr. Price W. Wells are in the office of W. E. Sealeman for settlement. Call and settle.

ACQUITTED.—J. H. Christie, of Marion county, who shot and killed a negro named Haekins, was acquitted at his examining trial in Lebanon.

FOR RENT.—A cottage on East Main street, near the Graded School building, after September 1. Six rooms. Water in house. Apply to Dr. J. M. Burton.

In this issue of The Sun will be found the advertisement of Mr. E. A. Cox, who offers for sale five lots on Virginia avenue. The lots will be sold at public auction on Saturday, October 7.

MARRIED.—Mr. J. Eron Rapier, son of County Clerk Boone Rapier, of Nelson county, and Miss Agnes Stoker, of Bardstown, were married yesterday in St. Joseph's church in Bardstown.

Bro. Anthony, of St. Rose, sold to Wiley Wilkerson, of Nelson county, eighteen head of extra good export steers at 5 cents, to be delivered between October 1 and 10.

Mr. L. M. Gregory, of near town, sold to Coleman & Norton, of Mercer county, nineteen head of export cattle at 4c. They averaged 1,471 pounds.

David McElroy, colored, brought to The Sun office Monday two Spanish silver dollars, which he unearthed while digging a ditch at Bardstown recently. One bears the date of 1784, and the other 1788. On each is the picture of a king.

Uncle Jeff Wright, an aged and respected colored man, died at his home near McIntire, of infirmities of age. Uncle Jeff was well known by a large number of white people, and was liked by all.

Charles Greene was quite severely hurt last Wednesday afternoon while out horseback riding. The horse stumbled and fell, throwing Mr. Greene, causing him to receive a severe sprain of the right hand, also quite a painful cut on the arm.

HARNESS ESTABLISHMENT.—Messrs. J. L. Allen and George Begean will open a wholesale harness manufacturing business here in a few weeks, or as soon as the machinery can be placed. They will occupy the building formerly used by Hodapp & Miller. Mr. Allen informs The Sun that the establishment will be equipped with all the latest improved machinery.

A BUSINESS FOR SALE!

I desire to sell my one-half interest in the F. T. Cox & Co. butcher business.

I find it necessary to devote my entire time to my farm and for this reason I desire to sell. The business is one of the best in town, and for the amount of capital invested I believe I am safe in saying, it pays more money than any other one business house in Springfield. My reasons for selling are as stated above.

Address me at Springfield Ky.

LUTHER A. BURNS.

Feminine Economy.

Is it not a part of our extravagant economy that makes women eat such queer things when they are by their lonely selves? What self respecting man would lunch off a salubrious cake, a tart or an ice? Show me the self respecting woman who has not done it! Women know how to cook—some of them—but none of them know how to eat. A woman feels that to eat well and substantially is a sheer waste—there is nothing to show for it; but she would not hesitate a moment to spend even more in something that she can show. A man doesn't think twice about having a good dinner, and he thinks it is money well spent, but he would be hanged before he would buy himself an ornamental waistcoat and sustain life on a penny bun. What awful things we should eat if it were not for men!

I am sure that d'ohite dinners were invented by some philanthropist to save women. "I cannot eat a la carte," said a friend of mine in a piteous burst of confidence. "It's just like eating money." So when her husband travels with her he always loads her to the table d'ohite, if only to preserve her from starvation. When she is resigned to the cost she has an excellent appetite. I really think if it were not for men women would wrap themselves in sable and point lace and starve to death.—Mrs. John Lane in Fortnightly Review.

WHAT'S DOING In Washington—Matters of Interest

DISCUSSED BY OUR CORRESPONDENT.

(Special Correspondence.)

The demand for fresh, new, clean money of small denominations is so large that the treasury is receiving an average of $2,000,000 a day of worn-out currency of all kinds, about 40 per cent of the currency of national banks. United States Treasurer Treat said recently that the printing and engraving power of the United States government is not equal to the task of furnishing new currency as fast as desired. Realizing that it would have to be contented with this in direction, Treasurer Treat some time ago wrote to the various subtreasuries calling their attention to the fact that about 50 per cent of the money sent in for redemption was perfectly good enough to remain in circulation for many months longer and directing them to refuse to receive that which should not be taken out of circulation. The national banks of the country are so anxious for new, clean, crisp money that they bundle up loads of partly used money and turn it into the subtreasuries for redemption, supposing that the United States has nothing to do but keep the people of the country supplied with pretty, freshly printed bills. Mr. Treat says the treasury is willing to do all that is necessary, but that there is a limit to which the bureau of engraving and printing can go in obliging the banks.

Wireless Telegraphy Extension.
The navy department is recasting a wireless telegraph system that it has at the Washington navy yard in an effort to communicate with the wireless station at the Brooklyn navy yard. Hereafter messages between the two places have been sent by relay. The distance is not as great as that between other stations on the coast where messages have been exchanged, but in this case the aim is to have the means of communication highly perfected.

President's New Aide.
At the suggestion of the president Captain Fitzhugh Lee, seventh cavalry, has been ordered to this city for special duty at the White House as an aide to the president and assistant to Colonel Charles S. Brown, the engineer officer in charge of public buildings and grounds. Captain Lee is a son of the late general Fitzhugh Lee of Virginia and a grandnephew of general Robert Lee of the Confederate army. By a singular coincidence he will have as an associate in his new duties at the White House Second Lieutenant U. S. Grant 3d, corps of engineers, grandson of General U. S. Grant, the great hero of the civil war.

Grassman For Soldiers.
Ground is now being prepared at Fort Washington, the heavy artillery station on the Potomac, about twelve miles below this city, for the erection of a new "grassman" and post exchange building, the contract for which was awarded to a local firm about three weeks ago.

For several years past the men at the army posts throughout the country have been encouraged to go in for athletic sports, the officers believing that the sports benefited the men both physically and morally and added much to the esprit de corps of the commands.

Public Documents.

Public libraries and the libraries of schools and colleges will soon have an opportunity to complete their sets of public documents, Congressional Globes and Records. Mr. L. C. Hays, superintendent of public documents, is now preparing a list of the surplus copies of these publications on hand, there being from one to several hundred of four-fifths of the public documents issued since 1817 and complete sets of the Globe from 1833 to 1873 and practically all the Congressional Records to date. Previous to 1817 public documents were known as "American state papers," the burning of the capitol and the library of congress by the British destroying what was probably the only complete set in existence.

Decoration of Books.
The amount of gold leaf used in the big government printing office has recently increased, nearly $24,000 worth of the prepared article having been purchased last year, the "waste" leaf reducing that amount by $5,000, however. The stamping room, located in the old building annex, employs forty young ladies to apply the leaf to the "cases" or book covers before passing them to the thirteen power presses. This is said to be the largest stamping room in the world, 25,000 cases being considered a fair day's work.

Model Police Force.
The police force of Washington is regarded as the model department of its kind in the United States. The men are looked upon as proficient and especially intelligent. The present high standing of the metropolitan police is apparently due to the civil service system employed in their appointment.

The Weather Bureau.
The weather bureau has grown year by year, and its popularity has been thoroughly established. It is claimed that in order to make the work of the bureau effective the printing presses must be better overhauled, and the more printing the better the results of the service. It is asserted that the information of the weather bureau is valuable only as it can be distributed and that, although a large part of that distribution is made through the newspapers, yet still more can only be secured through the printing of maps by the government itself. It is said that as the years go by there will be more and more printing demanded.

CARL SCHOFIELD.

Strikes Hidden Rocks.
When your ship of health strikes the hidden rocks of Consumption, Pneumonia, etc., you are lost, if you don't get help from Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. J. W. McKinnon, of Talladega Springs, Ala., writes: "I had been very ill with Pneumonia, under the care of two doctors, but was getting no better, when I began to take Dr. King's New Discovery. The first dose gave relief, and one bottle cured me. I am now strong and healthy." Sure cure for sore throat, bronchitis, coughs and colds. Guaranteed at C. J. Haydon's drug store. Price, 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Returning Home.

Danville Advocate: Jake Anderson, son of Mr. M. D. Anderson, of Junction City, who left home mysteriously about five years ago, has arrived at St. Louis and will be at home in a few days to spend a short time with his parents before returning to St. Louis to enter college. Mr. Anderson is twenty-two years of age, and left home five years ago this month, because his parents insisted on his attending Centre College. Nothing was heard from him until after two years had elapsed, when a letter was received from Liverpool. He was then on his way to the European continent. Young Anderson landed in San Francisco about a week ago, after visiting Asia, Australia, Philippine Islands and Japan. He has written home but very little, and his coming is anxiously awaited by his folks.

A Fight for Life.

Harrodsburg Herald: While Mr. T. W. Armstrong, who lives near Bonta's schoolhouse, was out in a field at work last Saturday, he encountered a large spreading viper. He attempted to kill it, when the reptile showed fight and attacked him, and it was only after a long hard struggle that he succeeded in killing it. Several times the snake had Mr. Armstrong running for his life, till he was forced to stand and fight. The same day, going home, he picked up a hollow log and carried it to his woodpile. Upon chopping it up he found a big black snake inside, which he cut in two with the axe. Thinking it dead he flung the remains aside. After sun down that evening he heard a terrible commotion among his poultry, and hurrying out to investigate he discovered the front half of the snake chasing a big turkey gobbler. In cutting it he had evidently cut below the vital part, and in the cool of the evening the snake had revived, and feeling hungry had attempted to fill up on chicken. Mr. Armstrong quickly severed the head, this time making sure he did the job thoroughly.

Monster Sunflower.

Anderson News: On yesterday morning, Mr. Burton Cox brought to this office the largest sunflower ever seen in this city, and which measured four feet, three and three-quarter inches in circumference. This monster in the vegetable kingdom was raised from seed sent from the Philippine Islands to Mr. R. H. Alexander, of this county, and by him given to Mr. Cox for planting. Since its importation, the plant, because of its size and production, has been given the very appropriate name of "Alexander the Great," and those who, knowing its value as seed for poultry, wishing to procure seed, may do so by calling at his office. The seed, for the present, will be sold at the rate of fifty for five cents. The plant itself, when fully grown, resembles a tree in form, and when full of bloom, is a thing of beauty. Mr. Alexander has probably done more good for the county by introducing new seed than any other man in it.

Sold to a Syndicate.
Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 18.—President John C. Noel, of the Frankfort & Versailles Traction Co., confirmed the reported sale of his company to the Philadelphia syndicate, but declined to give any further details as to the price and terms or names of the purchasers.

To Build a Temple.
Lexington, Ky., Sept. 18.—A committee from various Masonic lodges was named here to report upon the feasibility of building a Masonic temple to cost $75,000. The body consists of K. G. Pulliam, W. C. Smith, Dr. J. T. Strode, J. L. Barkley and W. C. Hobbs.

Cynthiana Man Killed.
Newport, Ky., Sept. 18.—Walter T. Burns, of Cynthiana, aged about 25 years, was killed in the Latonia yards. He was riding between two cars at the time and it is believed was jarred from his position while the train was making a stop for the junction.

Murder at Lexington.
Lexington, Ky., Sept. 18.—While engaged in a game of billiards in the saloon of E. S. Lay, on South Limestone street, Stonewall Bradley shot and instantly killed Eli Corum, a carpenter employed by the Common Lumber Co. Bradley gave himself up.

Dead Man Found.
Covington, Ky., Sept. 18.—The L. & N. Railroad Co.'s operator reported to the police that a dead man was found in the back woods near Berry station, on the Kentucky Central division, in the system. The man had evidently been dead several days.

Oldest Hen in Kentucky.
Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 18.—A hen in the family of George Bradley, living in Christian county, Kentucky, has just died at the age of 21. It was the oldest hen in the state of Kentucky and for the past two years had been a family pet.

A Dual Loss.
Owingsville, Ky., Sept. 18.—Benj. F. Myers, 84, ex-duchy sheriff, and a prominent farmer, died near here. At the same time the residence of his son James, who was at his father's bedside, was destroyed by fire, with all its contents.

Sold the franchise.
Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 18.—The franchise for the building and operation of an electric street railway system and electric light plant in this city for 20 years was purchased by John H. Bell, Jr., of Hopkinsville.

Race Horse Hurt Park.
Lexington, Ky., Sept. 18.—James R. Keene has sent to his Kentucky breeding farm, Castleton, the race horse "Hurt Park," a 3-year-old chestnut horse, by Kingston, dam imp. Edithe, by Master Kidare.

New Oil Wells.
Lexington, Ky., Sept. 18.—The oil interest in Kentucky took on a doleful increase during the past week, and several new wells have been reported from the Wayne and Wolfe county fields.

Even the hell weevil has retired in the face of the overwhelming crops of cotton and of corn.

WASHINGTON COUNTY BUSINESS DIRECTORY

WHEN YOU WANT TO MAKE A PURCHASE, MAKE IT AT HOME, when you want to have a job of work done, have it done at home. If you go away from home to buy, or if you go away from home to have work done, nine times out of ten you hurt yourself worse than you do the home merchant on the home mechanic. At home the merchant knows you and will not misrepresent his goods to you; he has known you for years, he is your friend, he doesn't want to cheat you, he doesn't want your money for nothing. If you have ever bought anything from a mail-order house doubtless you can remember of having received different treatments. Their propositions look nice in print, but don't "come up." Pay your money "out" at home and it may "come back" again, but send it to one of the big mail-order houses and it will buy 25-cent cigars for 10-cent millinery in a European house. The sun begs to call the attention of the subscribers to the following businesses, conducted in Springfield and Washington county by honest and honestable men. When you want to make a purchase look over this list and select your store. You will be tickled when you compare your purchase with that of the man who bought from the big mail-order house. TRY YOUR HOME MERCHANT FIRST, THAT WILL BE TREATING HIM FAIR.

Ye Stirring Adventures of Captain Elisha Hopewell

By CHARLES B. LEWIS

Copyright, 1904, by Charles B. Lewis

[Ye captain was ye sole owner of ye ship, Mary Ann, and her crew ye years 1778 and 1779 he sailed out of ye ports of Salem and Boston, generally accompanied by his wife Nancy.]

It was in July of the year 1781. British warships were thick on the American coast, and, though Yankee craft were constantly dodging in and out, each skipper realized that he ran a terrible risk. One day early in the month Captain Elisha Hopewell of the brig Mary Ann of Salem, who had not made a voyage for two months, entered his house to say to his wife:

"Waal, Nancy, I've got a cargo for the brig at last."

"I should think it was about time," replied the wife as she mixed her dough for the usual two loaves of bread without looking up.

"What d'ye think 'tis?" asked the captain as he sat down and pulled off his right boot, which had been chafing his heel.

"Dunno. But I shall be ready when the brig is."

"Nancy, I don't think you'll care about going on this voyage. It's a ratty-peculiar cargo, and I guess you'll get to decide to stay home and mind the cat and the hollyhocks."

"Now, Elisha Hopewell, don't be silly. What's the cargo and where's the Mary Ann going?"

"The cargo is a powder—er!" whispered the captain.

"Well, what of it?"

"A hundred barrels of powder, a thousand pounds of lead, five barrels of flint and 200 muskets."

"And where ye bound for, Elisha?"

"Goin' to try to get into Wilmington, North Carolina. The lead and the flint and the muskets is all right, Nancy, but think of a hundred bars of powder. By Josh, but it gives me cold feet."

"I'm thinkin' it will give the British cold feet, too. These North Carolina patriots git bold of it," she grimly replied, but without the shadow of a smile.

"When will ye be ready?"

"Day after tomorrow."

"So'll I."

"But, Nancy, think of the powder—a hundred bars of it! Just let a spark touch it, and we'll be blown into a million pieces!"

"I'm a-goin' along to keep the sparks away. Now, Elisha, don't waste any more breath nor make that hole in your stocks any bigger. I'm goin' to wash of the powder. The cat can scratch around for a hilt, and it wouldn't be no great harm if the hollyhocks did far worse of water. That's all, and it won't do no good to say another word."

The captain pulled on his boot and went out and split some wood to bake the bread, and the subject wasn't mentioned again for twenty-four hours.

Then the wife sent a few things down to the brig, shut up the stove, poured all the water out of the tuskette and appeared on board. Next morning the Mary Ann put to sea. The brig had been built for a trader, so her fore and aft masts were set far apart, and she mounted no guns. As for fire-arms, there was only one musket aboard, and just who that belonged to nobody seemed to know. While on every other merchantman out of New England ports could make more or less of a stout defense if attacked, the Mary Ann depended on her wits alone. In this matter both Elisha and Nancy were agreed.

"Guns and powder and ball cost money," was the way the captain put it, "while wind don't cost nothin'."

"Even if we could fight and lick one of these British men-of-war we could never bring her into port with our seven men," was the argument used by the wife.

After heading straight out to sea until he believed he was clear of any of the blockaders Captain Elisha laid his southern course. Now and then a distant sail was sighted, but nothing happened to cause alarm until the brig was well down toward Cape Hatteras.

Then one evening as fair progress was being made and all was going well Nancy looked up from her sewing at Elisha as he came sauntering down into the cabin and said:

"Elisha, you know how my feet all burn at sea when we're goin' to have a can? We'll lose the wind before 10 o'clock."

"By Josh, but I don't like it," he exclaimed, with considerable concern. "We've slipshin' right along to git around the cape by sunup, and we can't have no calms."

"Got to have, Elisha, and it won't do no good to talk about it."

In less than two hours the breeze had faded down and died out, and the Mary Ann lay toasting on the ground.

The cargo was to be got into the hands of the southern patriots without delay, and at least a portion of it was supposed to be a skipper carried to have aboard any longer than he could make a port. As the calm came Captain Elisha Hopewell fretted and fumed and wondered if it would be his undoing.

The British still held Charleston, and from that port they patrolled the southern coast. Nothing had been in sight when night closed, but morning and a breeze might find a frigate in the wake or coming up the coast. At one end of the boat, and as he was still packing the deck, Nancy joined him and quietly said:

"Elisha, you may git ready for a thunderbolt."

"No-ah!" he fairly shouted as he hung up his arms.

"It's comin', Elisha. I can smell a thunderbolt ten miles off, so you very well know."

"But the powder, Nancy—the hundred bars of powder! We shall be struck by lightning! and blown to mince me!"

"Mebbe we shall, but we can't help ourselves. That's all jest now, Elisha. Better change your clothes and git ready for the rain."

Five minutes later there came a flash of lightning, followed by the rumble of thunder, and within a quarter of an hour there was a terrific down-pour of rain which lasted for a full hour. At every flash of lightning the crew of the brig shivered and trembled, and they were a frightened and humbled lot when the storm finally passed over.

The breeze did not come up as the heavens cleared, and then every sailor knew that the calm would hold until sunrise. Midnight came, and the captain was still leaving the deck in charge of his mate when Nancy, who had declared her intention of going to bed half an hour before, suddenly appeared on deck and began sniffing and sniffing at the air.

"What's the smell?" asked the captain, with considerable interest.

"No wind, Elisha," she answered, "but I'll tell you what's what. I don't know what's become of all this powder, but you can't smell a whole close by."

"A whole!" shouted the captain. "But, by Josh, then, your nose must have got a twist in it. I'll tell you, there was a whole within five miles of us."

"Whole almost alongside of us, sir," interrupted a voice from the bows of the ship. The breeze was followed, but the lieutenant did not take his departure. He seemed to have come to the surface to take a long nap. Now and then a long drawn sigh or a groan would come from him, but so far as could be observed by the men, who moved about in their bare feet and peered over the bulwarks at intervals, he never moved a fin. His queer hanging on made everybody nervous, and the result was that nobody slept. Captain Elisha paced up and down on the deck, and Nancy got out needle and thread and made a jacket of his which needed mending. An hour after midnight the captain descended to the cabin to verify the fact.

"Nancy, I'm jiggered if I know what's to be done."

"Now, Elisha, what's the use of all this stewin'?" she asked as she held her needle suspended to look at him. "A calm is a calm and is goin' to continue to be a calm till the wind gits up. There to us that the British's oxen could figure that out."

"But it's the whole, Nancy—the whole!" he hoarsely whispered.

"What about the whole?" He hadn't hurt nobody yet, and I don't think he intends to. I'm worryin' more about our eat at home than I am about the whole alongside."

"Just one flap of his tail would bust in the brig and the bars of powder, and away we'd go!"

"Waal, I ain't goin' to worry 'bout no flaps, and it won't do you no good to prowl around. Better lie down on the locker and git forty winks of sleep."

The hours dragged on, and the calm continued; so did the whole. When dawn came stealing over the sea at last he was rubbing the barnacles off his side against the Mary Ann and taking lots of comfort. The first thing they all looked for was the whole. The next thing was for sight of sail, and Nancy pointed her finger to the east and nudged the captain with her elbow and quietly said:

"Elisha, don't you kind of think that's an English frigate comin' on the breeze which we ain't got yet?"

"By Josh, and I do!" he shouted after a brief look. "Yes, sir-dee! That's a British frigate, and the Mary Ann is as good as captured this very minute! Nancy, you might as well begin to pack up your plans and needle."

"I shan't pack nothin', Elisha. She's got a small breeze out there, but it won't hold. It'll die out and then whip around and come off the cape."

"That'll be it, captain," added the mate as he leaped up on the rail to squint at the sky and observe the set of the sea.

"But if it falls calm she'll lower her bows-to-tackles!" persisted the captain. "I'm tellin' you that the brig is as good as captured right now, and we might just as well git ready to see the inside of an English prison. By Josh, Nancy, last didn't I tell you to stay home?"

"You did, Elisha, but I'm here all the same. What a man you are to fret! That Britisher is seven miles off port, and can't you see how the wind's dyin' out? Now, you stop your frettin' and let Providence sort of take hold. No body is ever captured till you've got hold of their coat tails, and even then the coat may wriggle off."

The crew of the crew were of the captain, however, and the wife's stout-hearted words did not prevent despondency.

About nine months ago Miss Blind learned through a New York lawyer of the publication of an advertisement seeking information as to the whereabouts of Mrs. Catherine Blind and her children. From the facts she was able to present, the British consul assured her that her claim to the estate seemed genuine.

A few days ago came the information through the British consul that money and real estate had been left in London, probably by the girl's father, who had been blind and her children. From the facts she was able to present, the British consul assured her that her claim to the estate seemed genuine.

WANTS GIRLS FOR SOLDIERS

Hans Eschelbach's Suggested Application of the Theory: "Let the Women Do the Work."

Berlin.—Germany may soon have women soldiers if Prof. Hans Eschelbach succeeds in persuading the members of the Reichstag of the soundness of his opinion.

In the current number of the well known magazine, "Nord und Süd," Dr. Eschelbach has written a remarkable article which is widely discussed in Germany.

In full earnest he advises to make every girl over two years in the army before she is allowed to marry. Every young man has to serve, why then should the women go free. Is his way of reasoning. "Woman," he writes, "for centuries considered an inferior being. First treated as a slave, a mere chattel, and afterward as a doll, she is now emerging from her dependence and demands equal rights with men."

"Slowly but surely she has fought against old prejudices and has conquered most of them. She is to-day the recognized equal of man. She has the same rights, but she escapes one of the most onerous duties. We recognize to-day the right of the state to tax every young man away from his work and make him serve as a soldier for two or three years. He is made to lose his identity and become part of a remarkable military clockwork for that length of time and is forced blindly to obey officers who are not always agreeable as they might be. We wish, then, should woman, who now enjoys every privilege that man has, be exempt from this duty?"

Rogers died at her home in Lexington, Ky., last Saturday, after a short illness of erysipelas, aged about sixty-five years. Deceased was a daughter of the late Mike Donohoe, Esq., at one time a prominent citizen of Bardonia, and was born and reared here, where she is well remembered by many friends. She was the wife of Mr. D. J. Rogers, also a native of this place, who, with several children, survives her. One of her sons, Mr. W. D. Rogers, is a resident of Bardonia. Mrs. Rogers was a most estimable woman, and the news of her death will be received with sorrow by her friends here and elsewhere. The interment occurred at Lexington.

HISTORIC

Out in Kansas—A Relic of War Times.

PLow TURNS UP A SWORD.

Relic of the Battle of Westport Is Found by a Boy—Bears Initials "C. K."

Kansas City, Mo.—A broken cavalry saber, probably carried by one of Gen. Lewellyn's gallant troops who fell in the battle of Westport, was found recently in a field on John Videman's farm, south of Westport. The weapon was picked up by Harold Barthelson, the seven-year-old son of Karl Barthelson.

Harold found it in some high grass in a field that was plowed last spring, and it was probably turned out of its long resting place at that time. Its blade was thick with rust that had eaten deep into the steel, and the hilt was raised with earth.

The saber showed evidence of hard usage. Several inches of the blade had been broken off, probably in the last desperate onslaught that cost its owner his life. The edge of the blade bears deep nicks, and on the hilt are marks which tell of hand-to-hand conflicts. Just below the hilt the initials "C. K." can still be deciphered.

Hotel Clerk Dies.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 18.—Chas. M. Norman, for 30 years a clerk at the Phoenix hotel and late proprietor of the Normandy cafe, died at his home here. He went out for a walk before supper and on his return complained of feeling ill, and soon after was stricken with paralysis.

Bath County Tobacco Growers.

Owingsville, Ky., Sept. 16.—Col. J. R. (Cole) Barcomb, of Sharpsburg, this county, says that $5,000 has been subscribed by the Bath county tobacco growers toward the $7,500 allotment for Bath county, and that the other $2,500 would be subscribed at once.

Death Rebs a Bride.

Dayton, Ky., Sept. 16.—Berland Heeg, 27, died at the home of his father, George A. Heeg, 1018 Second avenue. Druggist was the cause of his death. A sad feature of the death is that the young man was engaged to be married to a Miss Hamilton.

Gamblers Fined.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 16.—Seven alleged operators of gambling resorts in this city were fined $200 and costs each in the circuit court Friday afternoon, and similar fines against the poolroom operators and clerks will, it is said, be entered Saturday.

A New Line.

Owingsville, Ky., Sept. 16.—C. F. Stephens, of Mt. Sterling, has decided to begin, on or before January 1, 1906, the operation of an automobile passenger, express and light freight line between this town and Mt. Sterling, a distance of 15 miles.

Seeks Health in the South.

In order to dissolve our partnership business, we will, on the above date, beginning at 9 o'clock, at our farm known as the Coanougher farm, situated near Fenwick, offer for sale to the highest bidder, the following described land and stock:

LAND

Our farm known as the Coanougher farm, situated 4 miles west of Mackville, and 7 miles east of Springfield, containing 440 acres. This farm, with the exception of about 15 acres of good timber land, is in a high state of cultivation; all in grass, except 50 acres in corn. The farm has on it a good five-room house, tenement house, stock barn, tobacco barn—which will house 12 acres of tobacco—and all other necessary outbuildings. Farm is one-half mile from schoolhouse, and three-fourths of a mile from store and postoffice. Has excellent fruit of all kinds. There is not a better watered farm in Washington county, having on it an everlasting spring and a never-failing well. About 100 acres of this land is extra good tobacco land. Farm is well fenced; in fact, the farm is well improved in every respect. At same time and place, we will also offer for sale another farm two miles west of Mackville, and the Cal. Shawmaker farm. This farm contains 273 acres and is in good state of cultivation, 30 acres timber land, remainder in grass. This farm has on it a good two-story dwelling, good stock and tobacco barns—tobacco barn will house 8,000 pounds of tobacco. Farm is well watered and will make a desirable home. Good orchard; close to school. About 75 acres strong tobacco land.

STOCK

Six mules, 1 heavy work horse, 2 harness horses, 2 combined mares, 2 brood mares, 4 two-year-old geldings, 2 yearling fillies, 3 suckling colts, 7 milch cows, 5 two-year-old heifers, 1 short two-year-old steer, 5 yearling steers, 4 calves, lot of brood sows.

Farm Implements, Etc.

Two 2-horse wagons, 1 binder, 1 mower, 1 rake, 1 two-horse drill, 4 large plows, 7 double shovels, 2 cultivators, 2 tobacco plows, 1 disc harrow, lot of harness, 35 stacks of hay, about 1,500 bu. corn, 100 bu. Northern seed wheat, lot of seed rye.

TERMS: The land will be sold for one-third cash, and the remainder due in 1, 2, 3 and 4 years. Bankable notes will be required of purchasers, and interest must be paid annually. On live stock, etc., all sums under $5, cash; over that amount, on a credit of six months interest. Approved notes will be received before removal of property. Notes payable at People's Deposit Bank, Springfield, Ky., bearing 6 per cent. interest.

Chamberlain's COLIC, CHOLERA AND Diarrhea Remedy

A few doses of this remedy will invariably cure an ordinary attack of diarrhea.

It has been used in nine epidemics of dysentery with perfect success.

It can always be depended upon, even in the more severe attacks of cramp colic and cholera morbus.

It is equally successful for summer diarrhea and cholera infantum in children, and is the means of saving the lives of many children each year.

When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. Every man of a family should keep this remedy in his home. Buy it now. It may save life.

PRICE, 50c. LARGES SIZE, $1.00.

How to Make "Wheat" Oil.
A wizard oil that deserves its name from the lightning changes it produces in the case of bruises and sprains is made of these proportions: Mix together two drams each of cloves, sage, anniseeds and elder sulphur; add two drams spirits of turpentine, two drams gum camphor, one ounce oil of sweetgum, two drams of chloroform and grain alcohol (not wood) enough to make a pint. Shake well and keep where the victim of a "wip and fall" can find it readily.

How to Save Dolly's Head.
When I buy doll heads, either bleached or metal, I fill them with cotton before attaching to the bodies, says a writer in Good Housekeeping. This prevents the eyes falling in and also enables her body, if of bleached, to withstand harder falls than she otherwise could.

How to Detect Adulterated Milk.
Dilute milk in water. The chalk, if there be any, will settle to the bottom in an hour or so. Put to the sediment an acid—vinegar, for instance—and if effervescence takes place chalk is present in the milk.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Aids Nature.
Medicines that aid nature are always most effectual. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It always cures, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions, and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Sold by C. J. Hay, drugist.

"Oh, it's all loss, no profit nowadays. Why, only yesterday my wife's mother got tangled up in a net."
"Well, that's net profit, isn't it?"

Lazy Pores.

Laziness is an evil that breeds trouble and disease. Lazy men never look bright, cheerful or healthy. In the same way the pores of your skin become clogged and lazy. They lose their activity; they don't perform their regular duties. As a result you have skin troubles, aggravating, annoying, itching and burning skin, black heads, pimples, etc. The pores of your skin need waking up. They are lazy; they need action. The most effective means of producing the necessary activity is to use freely twice a day the new product, Paracemph. When you apply Paracemph, it immediately opens the pores, penetrates directly to the bottom of the same, going even into the muscles, drawing out all disease germs, obstructions and inflammation, by inducing a healthy copious perspiration. It washes out the pores and feeds the interior cells which furnish the oils necessary for making a healthy and beautiful skin. For this reason, Paracemph is invaluable for the treatment of skin troubles, such as dry eczema, Tetter, rough and scaly skin. It is unequalled for the treatment of Neuralgia, Sore Muscles, and Rheumatism, because it creates a normal activity in the pores of the skin, thereby stimulating the circulation and thereby removing all congestion. Paracemph is a clean, invaluable household remedy—a remedy that every family needs every day in the year. Do not waste your money on cheap salves, liniments, witch hazel, vasoline, etc. Buy Paracemph, the up-to-date perfectly refined. Sold only in 25c, 50c, and $1.00 bottles. Guaranteed by all dealers. The Paracemph Co., Louisville, Ky., U. S. A.

CALL FOR ELECTION.

STATE OF KENTUCKY.
WASHINGTON COUNTY, Set.

Called to vote at the Washington County Fiscal Court, July 31, 1905.
This day came Coyle Catlett and filed a petition, twenty legal voters of the Hendren Precinct, No. 5, of Washington County, and moved the Court to hold an election to elect a representative to the next regular November election, 1905, to take the vote in said precinct whether or not stock shall be allowed to run at large on the public highways in said precinct, a majority of the justices being present and unanimously voting, allowing said election to be held. It is therefore ordered that the Sheriff and officers of said election will open and have the polls open to the public at large on the public highway in said precinct, No. 5, on the next regular November election, 1905, for the purpose of voting in regard to whether or not stock shall run at large on the public highway in said Hendren Precinct, No. 5.
Copy. Attest: W. F. BOOKER, Clerk.

In compliance with the above order, given from the Washington County Fiscal Court, I hereby notify the voters of Hendren Precinct, No. 5, of Washington County, that the polls will be open on the next regular November election, 1905, for the purpose of voting in regard to whether or not stock shall run at large on the public highway in said Hendren Precinct, No. 5.
